Mentoring has the potential to diminish stress and reduce burnout, and it's become very essential during the covid-19 pandemic when we started the MA program of Assamese in the academic year 2020-21. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the mentoring sessions have been carried out online. I am taking different ways to support my mentees. Recreational online activities were organized per week for the students and I have discussed mentees' different problems and complaints, health issues, academic queries via telephonic conversation and virtual meetings.
