- a. 1st Prize: Rs. 3000/- + Certificates to all students
- b. 2nd Prize: Rs. 2000/- + Certificates to all students
- c. 3rd Prize: Rs. 1000/- + Certificates to all students

B. Eligibility

- a. All final year (semester) project groups for B.Tech. in Electronics and Communication Engineering, Tezpur University, where the marks are allotted by external examiner, are eligible for the award.
- b. Students of the final year (semester) projects, affiliated to Department of ECE, and having a co-supervisor from another department, are eligible. However, all the members of the student project group must be pursuing B.Tech. in ECE.
- c. A project group is defined as the group of students (not more than three) working on the same project with a common title. If a project group has more than three students, that group shall not be eligible for the award.
- d. Projects (hardware or software) aimed at real-world problem-solving only shall be considered for the award. Review of a technology or mere literature on a technology, no matter how advanced it is, shall not be eligible for the award.

C. Judgement Criteria

- a. Judgement shall be based on
 - i. Originality of the work or methodology
 - ii. Feasibility of the Project
 - iii. Technical Depth of the Student Members in the Work
 - iv. Presentation
- b. One award position cannot be occupied by more than two groups. If there is a tie among more than two groups, the external examiner decides the tiebreaker, and keeps the top two groups.
- c. In case of a shared award position by two teams, the prize money for the position shall be divided equally between the two. For example, if two groups tie for the second position, each team shall receive Rs. 1000/- and certificates.
- d. The marks of the external examiner shall be considered to be final for the award.
