DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WORK

The Department of Social Work, Tezpur University was established in 2014 to respond to the dearth of good Social Work schools and trained social work professionals in the North East Region (NER) of India. The Department follows a rigorous theoretical and field-based pedagogy with special focus on the issues of the NER. For now the Department offers Master of Arts in Social Work and PhD in Social Work degrees which follows a credit-based continuous evaluation system.

The curriculum is designed to train students with the generic approach of social work, which leads to the conduct of research in emerging areas of social work profession and issues related to the NER. Through the fieldwork practicum (a crucial and integral part of social work training), the students are exposed to different economic, socio-cultural and political realities of the region. Additionally, the students are exposed to various social welfare programmes implemented at the grassroots level through the community, NGOs and government settings. The students are also encouraged to carry out internship and volunteering activities during the semester breaks in profit and non-profit sectors and other various government departments.

Vision

The creation of a just and equal society which ensures freedom from all forms of oppression and exploitation.

Mission

To develop human resources for competent and effective professional social work practice, teaching and research with diverse range of individuals, groups and communities by using a framework of social justice and human rights focused on sustainable and participatory development.

MESSAGE FROM THE HEAD OF DEPARTMENT

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WORK

समाज कार्य विभाग

সমাজ কর্ম বিভাগ

Dear Recruiters,

I feel immense pleasure to present you the Placement Brochure from the Department of Social Work, Tezpur University for the promising MSW Batch of 2025. The batch is a dynamic group of vibrant, motivated, sensitive, competent and enterprising budding professionals waiting to be recruited in the development sector. Since its inception in 2014, the Department of Social Work at Tezpur University has developed a transformational pedagogy of learning, practice and research. The theory-practice synergy is well complemented with the understanding of rural, urban, community, agency, and national social work settings. As we step into our 10th foundation year we are proud of the strong alumni network that we have build comprising of students working pan-India over diverse sectors such as development sector, Corporate sector, Academics and research and bureaucracy.

Students are exposed to theoretical inputs, invited lectures, classroom chats, learning workshops on various skills, analytical sessions, action research modules, communication for development programmes and organizational management perspectives through exposure visits, rural practicum and classroom sessions in both virtual and physical modes. In this two-year Master of Social Work program, along with various theoretical courses, students are exposed to diverse learning opportunities through fieldwork in concurrent Mode followed by block placement mode – concurrent mode of fieldwork facilitates students to works with assigned agencies to understand diverse field settings in different semesters whereas block placement facilitates students to immerse in reality of diverse settings be it rural/urban or agency/organizational settings, in the fourth semester they are placed in various organizations across the country based on their area of interest.

They work independently for a month, explore areas of interest, apply learnings developed in the last three semesters, plan strategic ways of intervention, and develop analytical skills. Block placement is also an opportunity for students to gain perspective about professional responsibilities and self- evaluation before attending any job placement. Rural Camp is an integral part of practice in the third semester which is held for five days. This year students were taken to a community based livelihood organization in BARPETA District of Assam. Our students also conduct independent research upon various issues which help them comprehend the different social issues while working in corporate and development sectors.

Besides academics, our students actively participate in co-curricular and extracurricular activities which have contributed towards their holistic personality development and professional growth. I invite you to participate in our campus placement process. We look forward to nurture and build old relationships and welcome new recruiters for a long-standing and mutually beneficial association. I am confident that our students will be assets to the organizations which they work with.

Looking forward to meeting you in our campus.

Apurba Saha, Ph.D.
Head of the Department

Namami Sharma, Ph.D.
Fieldwork Coordinator

Dear Recruiters,

Greetings from the Department of Social Work, Tezpur University.

It is an honour to be writing this note for the Placement Brochure 2023-25. The batch 2023-25 is a vibrant and dynamic cohort of students. It's a batch of 19 students with 18 hailing from different parts of Assam and one student from Kerala. The students came into social work from different academic programmes. From Chemistry to History, we have a range of varied undergraduate backgrounds.. This made the batch academically diverse and truly interdisciplinary. The social work training has equipped them with interpersonal skills embedded in social work principles, values and ethics.

The M.A. programme in Social Work has a rigorous field work component. The field work takes place concurrently with the classroom transactions. The students go to the field twice a week- on Mondays and Thursdays. In the first and the second semesters, students are placed in open communities, both rural and urban. Students are expected to deliver the community profile, understand the community, assess needs, plan and execute appropriate intervention strategies. They also undertake casework and group work as field interventions. In the third Semester, students are placed in agencies where they get an experience of social work administration, project management, project implementation and other aspects of organizational interventions. This batch of students were placed in hospital settings, school setting, deaddiction centres, mental health setting and community setting. During the fourth semester, the students did a month long block field work placement in any agency of their choice. During the rural camp, students experience absolute rural immersion at a select site for a week.

The MA theory curriculum is designed so as to complement the field work. The social work methods of community organization, case work and group work are taught during the first and second semesters while development administration, and specialized areas are addressed during the third and fourth semesters. There is a constant effort to relate theory with practice and the students develop praxis under the constant supervision of their department supervisors. The component of individual conference and group conference help the students to present field specific issues, creatively seek solutions and design strategies.

This batch of students have shown dedication and commitment in their field work. We have received excellent feedback from the various agencies that they were placed in. At the Assam Cancer Care Foundation, social work trainees conducted several cancer screening camps at the communities. At Collegiate high school, the social work trainees that were placed addressed many sensitive issues that the students were facing. They exhibited excellent community mobilising and networking skills. A few students from this batch were also involved at an entrepreneurial project of manufacturing sustainable sanitary pads at a nearby community.

I am proud to say that this batch of students are dedicated, sincere and committed. They have great problem-solving skills and high work ethics. They are open to learning and adaptive to varied situations. I am confident they will be an asset to any organization they work in. I would like to welcome you to the Department of Social Work to participate in the placement processes and interact with our students. We wish to collaborate and build a rewarding relationship through our students.

Thanking you. Looking forward to meeting you in our campus.
