Call for participation in the AdaptNET Conference

AdaptNET

AdaptNET (<https://adaptnet.aua.gr/> and <http://www.tezu.ernet.in/adaptnet/>) is a capacity building project supported by EACEA (Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency), European Commission under Erasmus+ initiative to strengthen education, research, and innovation for climate smart crops in India.

AdaptNET consortium consisting of (1) Agricultural University of Athens, Greece; (2) Università Degli Studi Di Milano, Italy; (3) Academy of Athens, Greece; (4) Università Politecnica Delle Marche, Italy; (5) Assam Agricultural University, Assam; (6) Tezpur University, Assam; (7) International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics, Andhra Pradesh, (8) University of Agricultural Sciences, Karnataka and (9) NGOs including EcoSystems and Spread NE.

Goal and Activities

AdaptNET is working to create network of highly skilled trainers on topics related to climate change impact and management in crops in India. AdaptNET has trained 29 Indian faculties and scientists in European Institutions, including four faculties from Tezpur University, for diffusion of knowledge and skill related to climate change mitigation and outreach to Indian economy and society. As per the mandate of AdaptNET, Tezpur University has floated a course “Climate change mitigation and energy management for crop-based livelihood”. E-labs are established in each of the Indian Universities, including Tezpur University, as a means for remote training in the areas of climate change mitigation for crop production. Further, Indian PhD students have been selected (four from Tezpur University) to spend three months in European partner laboratories so that they will serve as knowledge ambassadors (in the areas of Climate Change) once back in their Country.

Call for participation in the AdaptNET Conference
