

MA C4D programme of MCJ Department receives global recognition

The Drum Beat, an e-magazine published by The Communication Initiative Network has featured the Master Degree in Communication for Development (MA-C4D) of the Department of Mass Communication and Journalism of Tezpur University in their current issue of March 2018. The Tezpur University MA programme of C4D got enlisted among the 12 selected University profiles from across the globe.

The CI (Communication Initiative) Network is an international association with their office at South Africa, USA and Canada. The network provides the space for people teaching, studying, or researching communication and media for development, social and behavioral change in academic institutions. It provides them a platform to share knowledge, research, ideas, and strategic thinking derived from their work and experiences, as well as to provide peer support on the issues and challenges experienced by group members related to their academic work.

From Asia, The Department of Communication, University of Hyderabad and Department of Mass Communication and Journalism of Tezpur University were selected for their respective MA programmes in the area of Communication for Development. Ten other concerned Departments of various reputed Universities from Africa, Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean and North America were also mentioned in the list.
