

Training programme on Copyright & Trademark for Police Officials /Judicial Officers and Prosecutors from the North East of India

Backdrop

Socio-economic progress is continually crafted by innovations and creations of various stakeholders in our society with the fond expectation that the creators and contributors will be fairly compensated for their efforts. It is in this context that intellectual property rights (IPR) play a significant role in societal governance to ensure a fair and balanced deal for the owners of IPRs and users.

ICT has dramatically transformed the creation, reproduction, storing and transmission of all forms of works. These pose challenges to policy and law makers including enforcement agencies to create appropriate laws related to diverse forms of IPR and seamlessly enforce them.

Keeping in mind such issues, The Copyright Enforcement Advisory Council (CEAC) suggested that awareness Training Programme in IPRs especially on copyright and trademark to be conducted for the Police Officials/Judicial Officers and Prosecutors from various States in the North East of India. The Ministry of Human Resource Development [MHRD] has awarded this major assignment to the MHRD IPR Chair, Tezpur University, Assam.
